Jacqueline Le

Department of Political Science
University of Houston

jdle5@uh.edu https://github.com/jdle5/cv.git

October 2026

Education

University of Houston

Ph.D. Student, Political Science 2025–Present

B.A., Philosophy; Minor in Data Science 2021–2025

Experience

University of Houston

Teaching Assistant, The Supreme Court | August 2025 - Present

- Graded assignments and provided constructive feedback for students
- Worked under faculty instruction to identify areas of improvement for student success

Research Assistant August 2025 - Present

- Assisted in faculty research in judicial politics
- Aided in maintaining a working database by gathering survey data
- Prepared documents for text analysis

Scribe, Justin Dart, Jr. Student Accessibility Center

Houston, Texas | December 2025 - Present

- Supported students with physical impairments by scribing during exams and quizzes

Supplemental Instructor, Elementary Statistical Methods

Houston, Texas | March 2023 - May 2025

- Lead small-group sessions and provide academic instruction to reinforce lesson plans
- Created learning materials to provide additional support outside the classroom

Working Papers

Le, Jacqueline, and CJ Sheick. 2026. "Is Gen z the Most Conservative Generation of Our Time? The Rise of Conservatism and Voting Behavior from 2008 to 2024 by the Generations."

Honors

2025 Presidential Endowment Fellowship — University of Houston, Department of Political Science

2025 Phi Beta Kappa — Mu of Texas Chapter, University of Houston

2024 Summer Undergraduate Research Fellowship — UH Office of Undergraduate Research and Major Awards